

Information: The folder itself consists of either a separate front and back or a single foldable page, for example in A3 format. In A4 format, you have the choice between a light and a dark version. The light version is exactly in A4 format for your printer, as are the other insert sheets. The dark version is slightly larger so that there is a margin for cutting and also if you want the folder itself to be slightly larger than the contents. Strictly speaking, the dark A3 version is also larger than A3 so that the A4 insert sheets fit in well after folding. I have the dark version printed on 200g or 300g paper in the copy store of my choice.
